Hamlin Finds Cure For Aerial Show

BOB HAMLIN
... Top College Passer...

One of the top major college aerial shows will take place next Saturday when the Big Green meets Morehead State College in the annual Shrine game at Ashland, Ky.

The pigskin missile display will feature Big Green quarterback Bob Hamlin, Forrest Hills, Ky., senior, and ace pass receiver Jim Cure, Gary sophomore, converted from a halfback to an end when he joined the Little Green squad last season.

Both Hamlin and Cure will be among the top five in major college passers and pass receivers when statistics are released later this week. In fact, they may well be the leaders when Marshall gridders take the field at 8 p.m. Saturday. They lead the MAC in passing and receiving this week.

Going into last week's game against Kent State, Hamlin was fourth in the nation among major college passers, while Cure was sixth in pass receiving.

Hamlin had attempted 77 passes and completed 37 for 48 per cent and total yards gained of 405, including two touchdowns. Cure had caught the ball 15 times for a total of 192 yards, averaging 12.8 yards per catch.

Both of them exploded against Kent and almost pulled an upset, although a stubborn Marshall team finally was edged 23-14.

Hamlin threw the ball 20 times against the Golden Flashes and completed 11 of them for 185 yards, raising his overall completion percentage to 49.4, including four TD scores. Cure caught seven of the Hamlin pitches for a total of 157 yards, and scored both TDs.

As a result, both players will advance in the national ratings, and Hamlin may well take over the No. 1 or No. 2 spot in the nation. Quarterbacks from Detroit, Maryland and Oregon State had been in front of Hamlin prior to the Kent action.

A scout for the Green Bay Packers, watching the gridiron fireworks last Saturday, told Ray Cumberledge, assistant athletic director, that Hamlin is a definite pro prospect.

'Integration 1962' Topic Of Forum; Reasons For Prejudice Discussed

By JIM CASTO
Staff Reporter

More than 150 persons crowded into Old Main 201 Thursday to listen to a four-member panel discuss "Integration—1962."

The panel members were Philip Carter, Clarksburg junior; Gustavus Cleckley, Huntington sophomore; Dr. Bruce E. Dunn, assistant professor of psychology, and William G. Cook, assistant professor of economics.

The program was the first in a series of Political Forums co-sponsored by Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary, and the International Relations Club.

Speakers were introduced by Tom Stafford, Huntington senior and club chairman.

The program was moderated by Joyce Ann Rohr, Huntington senior and president of Pi Sigma Alpha.

Phil Carter, who said he was speaking for the "average Negro student," commented that "to be black 24 hours a day is a terrible situation."

Maintaining that all students, both Negro and white, must work together for a better understanding of the racial problem, Carter said "the storm is coming . . . we can face it together, or we can face it separately."

Gus Cleckley, in speaking of the attitude of the young Negro, said "We are not rebelling against white men, but against the institutions the whites have set up."

Referring to the current conflict in Mississippi, Cleckley termed James Meredith a "symbol" of the young Negro's rebellion against the poor educational opportunities offered to him.

Cleckley termed the doctrine of "separate but equal facilities" a "hopelessly out-dated myth."

Dr. Dunn pointed out that prejudice, while not hereditary, does have an "initial head start" because it is a "conditioned response" which people adopt because of their environment.

Dr. Dunn suggested that prejudice could be fought by making it economically "unsound", by supplying people with more and better information on the matter.

Professor Cook, pointed out that all the previous speakers seemed to feel that the country is not making enough progress in the matter of human rights, suggested that the answer to more rapid change lies in "aggressive action."

Pointing out that the "best way of changing peoples' attitudes is to first change their behavior," Professor Cook said that we must make those who would practice prejudice "pay a dear price."

One way of setting this "price", according to Professor Cook, would be "economic coercion."

"Any group of students can place a picket line," Professor Cook said. "If a significant number of students will observe this picket line, it is an approach that will succeed," he concluded.

McMillan Reports No Veto Planned

Gary McMillan, Vienna senior and president of the student body, will ask the Student Government Affairs Committee of the Senate to study the new Human Rights Commission to find out the best means of implementing the program.

He said, "As the commission stands now, I am completely in favor of it."

A coordinator is needed to head the commission. Anyone interested in applying for the position should see the student body president.

The Senate created the Human Rights Commission by a vote of 10 to 8 last Wednesday.

The seven-member commission, to be set up under the cabinet secretary of Publications and Public Relations, was proposed by Sen. William Calderwood, Charleston senior.

The purpose of the commission will be to act as a board to which alleged instances of discrimination can be presented, to ascertain the validity of such acts of discrimination, to report periodically to the secretary of Publications and Public Relations, and to work with the university administration and the Human Rights Commission of Huntington.

The commission was created for a one year trial period as a result of a study of discrimination in the community and on the campus by a committee consisting of Carolyn Karr, Huntington graduate; Tom Stafford, Huntington senior; Aubrey King, Iaeger senior, and Calderwood.

After the motion to create the commission was made, the floor debate in favor of the proposal was led by King, a member of the study committee. Sens. Clark Todd, Huntington senior, and Claren Brooks, Pittsburgh, Pa., junior, were leaders of the opposition.

Those speaking against the motion pointed out that the student commission might infringe on the jurisdiction of the city, or that the city commission might resent the actions of what one senator called, "junior adults". Another argument against the proposal was that the Student Senate represents only students on campus.

Jose Molina's Dancers To Be At Convocation

BY DONALD WAGNER
Staff Reporter

Jose Molina Bailes Espanoles, presented by a company of nine Spanish Dancers, will be featured during tomorrow's convocation in Old Main Auditorium at 11 a.m. "A six-century hit parade" of beloved folk-songs from seven countries will also be presented tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium by Rickard Dyer-Bennet, distinguished tenor and ballad singer.

A group of American businessmen were on a business tour of Europe last winter, when they recognized the talents of a company of nine "incredibly youthful, and handsome performers" in a small Madrid cabaret. The businessmen were so impressed with the brilliance and freshness of the young people's production, that arrangements were made to bring the group to the United States for a limited tour.

Jose Molina and his Spanish Dancers arrived in the States last April. Since then, word has spread throughout the United States and Canada of this remarkable Flamenco troupe. They have received offers from Symphony Orchestras, Colleges, Universities, Summer Theatres, Hotels and Night Clubs from Montreal to Honolulu.

The length of the company's Stateside stay was extended to permit the dancers, singers, and musicians to accept as many offers as possible. Molina, who for five years was the principal male dancer with Jose Greco, says, "I always thought such things happened to others, but never to me."

Dyer-Bennet was born in England and was brought up in the United States. He has been one of the most important influences in creating the present great revival of interest in folk music in the United States today.

Dyer-Bennet's presentation will include the story songs which our pioneer ancestors brought across the Atlantic, haunting love songs dating back to Henry VIII, and gay comic items meant to be danced to as well as sung. There also will be work songs and canal songs, and the hearty music of our Westward-moving frontier.

In the seasons since Dyer-Bennet's Town Hall debut, he has become a favorite of audiences from coast to coast.

JOSE MOLINA BAILES ESPANOLES will be presented during the convocation in Old Main Auditorium tomorrow at 11 a.m. The company of nine Spanish Dancers came to the United States in April. The Flamenco dancing presentation has been described by a Washington critic as "The most dazzling display of Flamenco fireworks this city has seen in many a season."

Wilburn Chairman Of Top State Unit

Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, dean of Teachers College and a veteran educator with more than 30 years' experience, was elected chairman of Gov. W. W. Barron's 19-member Committee on Education, which has the task of recommending legislative program.

The committee will hold its first meeting on Oct. 30 to begin the planning of a public school improvement program. However, Dean Wilburn said an executive committee meeting will be held in the next few days to prepare an agenda.

"This is quite a task," the dean said, after his election as chairman. "I'm very glad to do anything I can to help improve schools in West Virginia, and this is an opportunity to do that."

The governor appointed the committee to consider proposals already made by the West Virginia Education Association and the state Department of Education. However, each committee member will have the opportunity of adding to the list. The committee as a whole will then draw up priorities for presentation to the state's chief executive.

Dean Wilburn believes two reasons entered into his appointment to the committee. First, he has been dean of MU's Teachers College since 1947, coming here from Iowa State Teachers College (now State College of Iowa) where he had taught for 2½ years. Previously he had been assistant superintendent of schools at Martinsburg, W. Va., for eight years, an elementary school teacher for five years, and the only teacher at a one room schoolhouse for two years.

The second reason, the educator said, is the fact that he made a series of recommendations on public school education to Governor Barron last April "as a citizen". At that time the governor had urged suggestions from the state's citizenry to help him in formulating various programs.

Also serving on the committee is Miss Anna Virginia Locke, assistant professor of library science who is on leave while serving as president of the West Virginia Classroom Teachers Association.

Letters To Editor

(Editor's Note: The following letters were received by Dr. H. Gresham Toole, professor of history and department chairman, who forwarded the letter to The Parthenon.)

Dear Dr. Toole:

I have just finished reading your article, "I remember," in The Parthenon of Sept. 21. I enjoyed it so much that I read it aloud to my wife, (Mary Jenkins, '50), who shared my enjoyment. She suggested that we drop you a note to tell you so.

While I was not a history major at Marshall, (but, at least, it was my minor), I well remember several classes I had from you and I recall with pleasure a number of "instances" in these classes.

I thoroughly agree with your assessment of the Dean of Women—a rare person indeed.

Mary and I send you warm regards and best wishes upon your retirement next year.

Bill Blevins, '51

Dear Dr. Toole:

Although I never had a class from you while I was at Marshall, you are still very much apart of my college memories. Through the years you have grown into a campus legend—a most colorful and memorable one.

Mary J. Blevins, '50

Dear Editor:

In regard to the warning of the Sidney Sylvester Society to the Marshall campus which appeared in The Parthenon on Oct. 3, it may be of interest to your readers that a similar statement has been issued to the students of the University of California.

It has been the policy of the Sidney Sylvester Society to conduct its affairs in an open and straightforward manner. This policy is being maintained in all divisions of the Society, in order to remain loyal to the SSS code: "Better Things for Beteter Living Through Idiocy."

The group will return to campus Sunday at noon.

and therefore does not have the right to interfere in city affairs.

Proponents argued that the Senate represents all students, not only on campus but anywhere. Therefore, it is the right and the duty of the Senate to take action the student body requested assistance. It was also pointed out on the matter, since a segment of that, since university students are training to be leaders in the community, they should take an interest in civic matters.

One senator asked if the jurisdiction of the commission would reach into the campus clubs, sororities and fraternities. King answered by saying that the commission would be set up to investigate all grievances brought before it. He further pointed out that the commission would only hear and study alleged discrimination, not take or recommend action.

At one point in the debate, an attempt to send the motion to a senate committee was brought up, but it failed.

Debate ended after about an hour and the motion passed.

The usually empty visitors gallery was filled with about 40 students and faculty members.

Reflections of Telstar

Remember the picture above? It flashed across your television screen on a hot night last July. Perhaps you remember that it originated from France. And that it reached the U. S. via Telstar, the world's first private enterprise communications satellite.

Since that summer night, the Bell System's Telstar has relayed electronic signals of many types—television broadcasts, telephone calls, news photographs, and others.

But there's one Telstar reflection you might have missed. Look into the faces of the Bell System people below and you'll see it. It is the reflection of Telstar's success that glowed brightly on the faces of all who shared in the project.

Their engineering, administrative and operations skills created Telstar and are bringing its benefits down out of the clouds to your living room.

These Bell System people, through their talented, dedicated efforts, make your phone service still better, more economical, and more useful.

The reflections of Telstar are many.

Flashes Impressed With Passing Duo

By DANNY BARBER
Sports Writer

Aerial lightening struck at Kent State Saturday, but it wasn't quite enough. MU quarterback Bob Hamlin completed 11 passes in 20 tries against the Golden Flashes but the Big Green dropped a close 23-14 decision. Hamlin's favorite target, sophomore sensation Jimmy Cure, nabbed seven passes

Xavier Is Next For Freshmen; OU Wins 20-6

By LARRY MULLINS
Assistant Sports Editor

The Little Green football team, smarting from its first defeat of the year at the hands of Ohio Universtiy, look ahead to tomorrow's encounter with Xavier of Ohio at Cincinnati.

Coach Charley Kautz thinks his team's 20-6 beating by OU was much closer than the score indicated. "We lost three of our boys with five minutes remaining in the first quarter," he said. "David Arritt may be out for the remainder of the season, John Lukee is out indefinitely and quarterback Howard Miller may be sitting out the Xavier game with an ankle sprain."

OU was first to draw blood in the first quarter and retired to the dressing room at halftime with a 14-0 lead. The Little Green took the opening kickoff in the second half and marched to a score on a pass from Alex Sansoti to end Pat Woody.

"I thought our quarterbacks Miller and Sansoti looked real good. Sansoti sparked us on that touchdown drive at the opening of the second half and Miller, while he played, did a fine job running and throwing," Kautz said.

"Our whole team hit real hard, but I think the team as a whole needs a little more speed in pursuit of the offensive backs. Our big end, Woody, played a beautiful game. He hit hard, blocked well and was receiving passes well," the coach commented.

The Little Green mentor had only praise for the OU frosh. "Our line was slightly bigger than ours and their backs seemed to run harder than they did last year. They are a good sound ball club.

"Our trouble was containing them on third down plays. We had their passing pretty well defended, but on third down they would run a belly play that we just couldn't contain," Kautz concluded.

Passers Tops In Intramurals

Intramural passers had a good day last week as they hurled their respective teams to victory via the airways. Gary Starcher passed for two TD's as the Sig Ep No. 4 topped Cavaliers 27-15. Dick Fitzsimmons had an even better day as he hit Sig Ep No. 2 receivers with four scoring aerials in his team's 29-0 victory over TKE No. 2.

Jokers' quarterback Jim Cook tossed two scores to lead the way over SAE, 12-7, and Sig Ep No. 1 tripped KA No. 1 12-6.

and racked up 157 yards and both Marshall touchdowns. Hamlin, a Forest Hills, Ky. product, is listed as the fourth best passer in the nation and is due for a jump in the ranks this week when his record of 48 of 97 passes and 591 yards is announced.

Praise for the passing due came from many corners. Kent State head coach Trevor Rees called Hamlin a "real fine passer" and mentioned that he felt that Cure was among "the best ends we have faced all year."

Kent State players also ranked Cure as "the best end we have seen yet." This includes Miami of Ohio which barely beat the Flashes and upset Purdue last weekend.

Marshall head mentor Charlie Snyder was "quite pleased" with the performance of both Hamlin and Cure last Saturday. He noted that Hamlin and Cure are both big surprises in the Big Green outlook this season. Hamlin, he feels, has turned into a "real fine field general" as well as a top passer. Cure on the other hand has developed into a top defensive man to go along with his outstanding receiving performances.

Snyder felt that MU could have won the game if they had been able to contain the Kent State rushing attack in the last period. He also commented on a questionable incident of interference which "may have made the difference" in the game.

Photos of the game seem to indicate that Cure was being hit at the same time that the pass was arriving. Snyder added that he thought the team played as well as they could and showed improvement in the second unit and on defense. He cited players Glenn Bell, Clyde Pierce, Mike Hicks, Bob Maxwell and Roger Jefferson as turning good performances on defense. He added the names of Jimmy Brown and Jack Mahone to players who displayed good offensive effort.

Varsity Basketball Practice Draws 21

Varsity Cagers Hold First Workout

Big Green cagers began preparing for the upcoming season, which begins Dec. 1 against Morris Harvey, by turning out Monday for the first practice session.

At 3:30 p.m., Head Coach Jule Rivlin got his first look at the aspirants for the varsity positions as seven returning lettermen, headed by two-year lettermen Mickey Sydenstricker, Dick Wildt, and Phil Carter. The other lettermen are Paul Clark, John Sword, Willie Tucker and Larry Williams.

Also nine members of last year's freshman cage squad are trying out for positions. They are Bruce Belcher, Forrest Newsome, Ed Peltz, Walt Smittle, Larry Tinchier, Joe Heinz, George Hicks, Bill Francis and Bill Treacy. Along with these nine are two transfer students, Jerry Roy of Huntington, and Bob Kunis of Fallsburg, N.Y., who are looking for berths on the squad.

Much of the success of this year's Big Green basketball season will hinge on the development of the pivot man to take the place of center Bob Burgess who was lost through graduation. When the first whistle blows this season, either 6-6 senior Dick Wildt or 6-6 sophomore Bruce Belcher will be handling the pivot chores.
